Communis is sees growth in security

Print giant, Communis is further developing its profile in the APACS accredited security print market. Communis is the UK's market leader of cheque production and also commands the number one spot within the business forms market.

The company sees growth potential within the specialist security market at its state of the art forms and security production facility in Bath (formerly known as Bowater Business Forms).

Mark Cornford, Managing Director, commented, "It is vital that we develop our services to our trade clients within security print, with an enhanced offer".

As part of this development the company has invested £400,000 in new finishing equipment and upgraded print capacity by 1m forms a week. It has also recruited industry specialist, Martin Cray to manage the security print facility.

"Martin brings with him over 20 years of security print expertise which will be invaluable to the development of this area" stated Cornford.
