

12 February 2009

Communis is shortlisted for major environmental award

Communis has been shortlisted for the Achievement in Sustainability Award in the very prestigious PLC Awards, sponsored by PricewaterhouseCoopers and the Financial Times. Communis has been listed as one of four companies in the category in Wednesday's issue of the Financial Times and will be featuring again on Saturday, with the announcement of the final winner of the award on the 12th of March.

Shortlisting is a fantastic achievement – especially for a company in this sector. It's a tribute to every one at Communis who have been saving energy, thinking of ways to increase paper yields, making sure they recycle, challenging customers to communicate in greener ways, and helping suppliers to achieve the right standards of accreditation. Communis' Greenprint also made a big impression on the judges.

Communis CEO Steve Vaughan gave a special mention to Andrea Short- Communis' Environmental Support Manager, for all her hard work and particular dedication to the cause, and those working with her to improve environmental standards dramatically.